CHRISTIAN GROWTH

LESSON TEXT—John 1:40-42; Matt. 16:15-18; John 21:15-19.

GOLDEN TEXT—But grow in the grace and knowledge of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Growing Like Jesus.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Growing Like Jesus.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Growing Up—To What?

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Conditions of Christian Growth.

I. Following Jesus (John 1:40).

As a result of the testimony of John the Baptist, that Jesus was the Lamb of God (v. 36), Andrew followed Jesus. The proof that he really believed is that he followed Christ. This is the first essential in the Christian life.

II. Leading Others to Christ (v. 41).

As soon as Andrew had found and become acquainted with Christ, he brought his brother Peter to Christ Christian growth can only be truly realized in the giving of oneself to the winning of souls. The one who has received the gospel, the good news cannot help but proclaim it.

III. Confessing Jesus as the Messiah, the Son of God (Matt. 16:15-18).

The disciples had been with the Lord for several years. They had heard His wonderful words and seen His mighty works. Various opinions were extant about Him. It was now necessary for them to have a definite conception of Him. Examination came after the period of school life. As the Master Teacher, Jesus knew what it meant to the disciples to have a right conception of Himself. He knew the trying ordeal through which they would be called upon to pass as the time of his crucifixion drew near. Only as they perceived His deity would they be strong in the hour of trial. In answer to Jesus' pointed personal question, Peter confessed to the absolute deity and Messiahship of Jesus. This conception of Christ is essential to salvation (John 20:31).

No one looking it will ever be interested in the winning of souls. Besides, the denial of His deity is the supreme lie (1 John 2:22).

1. What Peter confessed (v. 16)

"Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." It therefore involved His Messiahship and deity. This is the burning question of today. Those who have the right conception of Christ's person and mission have no trouble in the realm of science, philosophy or ethics.

2. Christ's commendation (v. 17).

He pronounced him blessed. The evidence that Peter was blessed was that he was in spiritual touch with the heavenly Father. His conception of Christ was not revealed by flesh and blood.

3. Peter's blessing (v. 18).

Christ declared that he should become a foundation stone in His church. Christ Himself is the chief cornerstone on which the church is built. Christ's person and Messiahship were confessed by Peter, and on this rock is laid the foundation of apostles and prophets (Eph. 2:20). All believers are living stones of this house (1 Peter 2:5).

IV. Peter's Restoration (John 21:15-19).

Peter grievously sinned in denying the Lord, but he made confession shedding bitter tears over his sin and folly. The Lord tenderly dealt with His erring disciple and restored him to his restoration. Jesus brought to Peter's mind the essential qualification for his ministry. Love is the prominent gift for Christian service To impress upon his mind this fact He three times asked the question, "Lovest thou me?" He not only asked the question three times to show the supreme qualification for service to Him but to show that there are three classes of persons demanding His service, and that these classes need special care as well as food adapted to their state.

1. Those beginning the Christian life, babes in Christ. "Feed my lambs." The word "feed" means more than instruction. It applies to the surrounding, influences and examples.

2. The mature ones. "Feed my sheep."

This seems to mean "shepherd my sheep." The mature class of believers not only need food, but discipline. They need correction and guidance.

3. The aged Christians. "Feed My Sheep."

The word "feed" here is much the same as in the first case. This is a service greatly needed today. In many places the old people are greatly neglected. All provision is made for the young people. Love is the supreme need in service to the old folks.

The Humble Person

When men are cast down then thou shalt say, There is lifting up; and he shall save the humble person. He shall deliver the island of the innocent: and it is delivered by the pureness of thine hands.—Job 22:29, 30

Living and Giving

Abundant life always means overflow. The Christian life that is not overflowing is spiritually sick. It is dwarfed instead of being full grown. It is carnal not spiritual.

PAMPLIN

MEMORIAL SERVICE

A very impressive memorial service was held at the Baptist Church last Sunday in memory of Mrs. W. B. Duling, wife of Rev. W. B. Duling, who passed to her heavenly home on February 8th. The program was in charge of Rev. W. M Thompson There were several ministers who took part in the service, Rev. J. E. White, of Burkeville; Rev. Geo. Pankey, of Drakes Branch; Rev A. L. Caudle, of Appomattox and Rev. Hiram Reeves, of Presbyterian Church. Very appropriate remarks were made about Mrs. Duling's christian life. A solo was sung by Mrs. Bessie James. Mrs. Duling will be missed in the home, church and community and our hearts go out in sympathy to her home and children.

The people of Pamplin greatly sympathize with the family of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Babcock in the loss of their son, Eddie hog fatally shot himself in many of our people.

Mrs. Lucy Wingfield and three children are the guests of Mrs. Curtis Harvey this week.

The British Flag

The British flag floats over about one-fourth of the habitable area of the world.

FOREST VIEW

Ground-hog weather is surely here and if the roads could say anything I guess they would call it double ground - hog weather.

There is yet right much sickness about.

Mrs. T. H. Ford continues sick. Her daughter, Mrs Carl Ewers, of Lynchburg, spent several days with her recently.

Master Carl Moses has been sick but is out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee spent Saturday night in the home of her brother, J. A Martin and Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs R. W. Martin.

Mr and Mrs. J. A Martin visited her parents, Mr and Mrs. A. S Wooldridge Sunday after noon.

Mr. W. L. Ford visited his brother, R. W. Martin, Sunday.

We understand Mr T. J Nash is making arrangements to break up and move. We certainly hate to give up this good old neighbor and citizen. Hope he will not go far away

Mr. and Mrs. H. C Babcock and family have the sincere sympathy of a host of friends in the sudden death of their young son Eddie, who was killed Friday night. His Mr W. O. Moss has the sympathy of friends in the sudden death of his brother

A neighbor's suspicion led to the expose Catherine and Stein were taken to jail There they revealed their stories Authorities do not expect to take action against the girls but will investigate Catherine's "marriage" to Miss Garnet before releasing her.

BECKHAM

Mr. W E Moore shows no improvement at this writing.

Mrs. T. M. Taylor is improving slowly.

Mr. C A. Moore is on a trip to Florida with his nephew Callie Moore, and others. They will visit Mr. W. R. Moore of Tampa, while on their trip.

This community was saddened very much when news came of the death of Eddie Babcock, the youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Babcock of Appomattox. We extend our deepest sympathy to the family and relatives "Little Eddie" will be missed by everyone who knew him.

The Ladies Aid Society of Trinity church met with Mrs Gibbs Martin Thursday for the day. Owing to bad roads the attendance was small. A very pleasant time was reported.

POSING AS MAN, GIRL WEDS TWO

Female Barber of Los Angeles Is Jailed.

Los Angeles, Calif.—A suave, trousered, white aproned barber who discussed sports, politics, and business with customers in a straightforward masculine voice has revealed to the police that "he" is twenty-five-year-old Catherine Wing, male impersonator de luxe.

Detained in jail in their city, Miss Wing explained how she came to pose as Kenneth Lisonbee and for months played the role of an industrious husband to her lifelong chum, stella Harper, nineteen. Catherine and Stella were reared in range country around Thistle, Utah. They rode the hills together in masculine attire astride cow ponies.

Catherine became a woman barber in Utah but later decided to don a man and begin life anew. She purchased an assortment of men's clothing and went to Los Angeles.

There Catherine met a girl named Eileen Garnet. For several months Catherine courted Eileen just as a man would. Then when Catherine found Eileen had fallen in love with her, she explained that she was a girl. Eileen went and told Catherine she had broken her heart. Eileen threatened to commit suicide, explaining she had planned to get away from relatives by marriage.

So Catherine married Eileen. Then the latter's mother discovered her daughter's "husband" was a girl. A family row ended the strange marriage. Later Stella Harper joined Catherine in Los Angeles and Stella agreed to replace Miss Garnet in the role of wife. Miss Wing opened a barber shop of her own, still enjoying the rus- of playing the part of a husband.

A neighbor's suspicion led to the expose Catherine and Stein were taken to jail There they revealed their stories Authorities do not expect to take action against the girls but will investigate Catherine's "marriage" to Miss Garnet before releasing her.

Temple of Warriors Rebuilt in Jungle

Washington.—The task of rebuilding the great ruin of the Temple of the Warriors in the city of Chichen Itza has at last been completed, so far as modern science can make the fallen stones stand again in their ancient places. This is the message which Earl Morris, in charge of the excavations at Chichen Itza for the Carnegie institution of Washington, has brought to the institution on his return from Yucatan.

The Temple of the Warriors, reclaimed from the tropical jungle, stands again on its pyramid of four receding stone terraces. The stone altar, once used for human sacrifice, has been restored.

The project of restoring the temple became extremely complicated when Mr. Morris discovered traces of another, older temple beneath the ruins. The Warriors temple is believed to date from about 1200 A. D.

Paintings found during the last season are a valuable addition to old American art.

Vegetable Sales Loss Laid to Boyish Figure

Chicago.—The publicized theory of theatrical producers that a boyish feminine figure should have a boyish slimness has done "almost irreparable harm" to potatoes, according to the vegetable industry, E. S. Briggs, manager of the American Fruit and Vegetable Shippers' association, declared at the annual convention.

Since the "boyish figure" idea has been picked up from professional exploiters of feminine pulchritude, "the potato and rice market has been glutted, due to the fact that every one avoided starchy foods in the interests of slenderness," Briggs said.

Shy on Bathtubs

Washington—One-third of homes surveyed by the General Federation of Women's Clubs had no bathtubs; one-fifth had no kitchen sinks. The federation's deduction is that the home is lagging far behind the progress in every other field of American life.

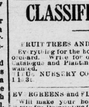
Middle Life Troubles



"About twenty years ago, my health was very bad," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Terrell, Texas. "I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal. I was not at all strong, and my nerves got all upset. I had hot flashes, and sometimes would get suddenly so faint I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time.

"I improved so much after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some months, until I had passed the critical period. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. We have all been better for having taken it."

Anchored Down

A home in which no children are
Is like a sky without a star,
Or so it seems to me.
But, I suppose, the man and wife
Who live, by choice, a childless life,
Rejoice to be so "free."

"No kids for us," they likely say,
"To have to watch through night and day—
No, Boy—they're too much fuss!
And furthermore, it costs too much
To buy their clothes and food and such—
No, SIR—no kids for us!

"We like to roam about the town—
But kids, of course, would hold us down,
Like chains around our feet.
YOU raise the kids—WE'LL have the fun!
YOU stay at home from sun to sun—
WE'LL live the life that's sweet!"

But, oh, the joys of life they
Who do not hear the baby's cries,
And smiling, sparkling eyes!
And oh, how empty life will grow,
As down the years they slowly go,
And Youth behind them lies!

WE'RE anchored down, I must confess,
But anchored, though, with Happiness,
And all that makes life fine!
YOU live the life that's fancy-free,
Without a child—but as for me,
I'll take the kids for MINE!

Memorial Methodist Church

A missionary institute will be conducted at Memorial Metodist Church beginning next Monday, February 18, and continuing through Friday, the 22nd. Beginning promptly at 7:30 each evening there will be a brief devotional service followed by a twenty minute lecture by the pastor on the various chapters of the little book on Evangelism recommended by the Board of Missions. Musical selections come next on the nightly programs after which there will be an address each evening by some prominent speaker. Special music every night.

On Monday night the speaker will be Dr. Wm. Albert Wright, pastor of Centenary Church, Lynchburg. His subject is "Our Supreme Need". Tuesday evening Dr. J. F. Carey, presiding elder of the Lynchburg district, will speak on "First Things First." Wednesday, Rev. W. M. Thompson, pastor of Liberty Baptist Church of Appomattox, will take as his theme, "New Worlds to Conquer." Thursday, Rev. Wm. Archer Wright, pastor of Memorial Methodist Church, Lynchburg, will address the institute on "The Personal Touch". Friday night, Rev. H. W. Davis, pastor of Farmville Methodist Church, will take as his subject, "Completing the Circle." All of these speakers are men of prominence and ability and the people of Appomattox are offered a genuine opportunity to hear something good.

On next Sunday, Feb. 17th, Rev Geo. S. Reamey, pastor of Memorial Methodist Church, will occupy the pulpit at both services: At 11 o'clock his subject will be "Crusades Past and Present," and at night a continuation of the series on biblical characters.

DID YOU KNOW

That the Pennsylvania R. R. which claims the distinction of being the safest and speediest as well as the largest passenger carrying road in the United States has recently placed orders for ten Ford all metal air planes each carrying from twelve to fourteen passengers. This order will total around a half million dollars. The planes will cut the coast to coast traveling time in half. forty-eight hours from New York to Los Angeles. They will operate in conjunction with the fast trains, the railroad being used for night travel while the planes will operate during the day. Col. Charles A. Lindbergh has been appointed consulting Aeronautical Engineer to the Pennsylvania. He will choose the types of planes, select air routes and pass on the qualifications of pilots.

Aviation is developing by leaps and bounds. Appomattox needs an airport, even as she needs a highway or railroad station.

P. S: This is not an advertisement. Sky Pilot.

GHOSTLY BANDS PUT SOUNDS IN MOVIES

Snores and Snorts Linked to Pictures at Night.

Hollywood, Calif.—It is the darkest middle of the night and the great studio sprawls like a town of fantastic shadows between the dry river bed and the barren hills.

One supposes there is a night watchman somewhere on the lot, but apparently he does not see the dim figures slinking one by one toward a barnlike structure, each carrying something, and each disappearing quickly into the small door in the building.

Heading away from the studio, they might have been taken for burglars escaping with their loot, but under the circumstances it is more reasonable to guess they are conspirators of another sort.

The interior of the building is dimly lit, but by mingling casually with them one can see very clearly what they carried in—two saxophones, a galvanized-iron washtub full of tin cans, a cornet, a tuba, a clothes wringer, three phonographs, a school bell, several cowbells, a hand-operated alarm gong, three sizes of electric bells, innumerable tin, brass and wooden whistles, many assorted pieces of wood and metal, half a dozen panes of window glass and a metal cylinder of compressed air.

Jolly Looking Conspirators.

Obviously these are not the paraphernalia of arsonists or dynamiters; and, besides, even in the dim light, the conspirators have a jolly look.

It begins to look more like preparations for an old-fashioned charivari. Before one can ask who was married, however, the head conspirator explains everything:

"Our Job tonight," says he, "is to synchronize Oswald the Rabbit."

Oswald, one learns, is the pen-and-ink hero of an animated cartoon which, like nearly all the modern crazes for screen sound, must be embellished with music and noise-effects.

Six musicians, skilled in leaping nimbly from tune to tune in harmony with the action on the screen, take their places under one microphone.

Another microphone hangs near the table where all the bells and whistles are spread. A large man in overalls sits near the tubful of tin cans with a wooden paddle in his hands, as if waiting for the cauldron to boil; the other conspirators stand here and there between the microphones, ready to make the right noises at the right times.

Rehearse at Showing.

They rehearse with the picture running on the screen in front of them. And a fine main title or comedy appears on the screen the orchestra leaps into an overture, while the other conspirators stand tensely waiting for their cues.

When the opening scene discloses Oswald sleeping in his bed, the orchestra dodges quickly into a cradle song while a lad within whispering distance of a microphone snores rhythmically; and another specialist imitates the squeaking of the bed by running sole leather through the clothes wringer.

After each rehearsal the recording engineer in the sound-mixing booth, who hears all this as it will sound to an audience, suggests improvements.

And again and again the mixed symphony of harmonies and discords is rehearsed; then, "This is the picture, boys," and they go through it once more, with the sound-recording apparatus registering everything on celluloid.

Along about sunrise the sound-smiths cut it a night and go home, tired and hungry, but with a little glow of pride at the thought that their artistry has made it possible for the world to hear as well as see Oswald the Rabbit.

1660 Sunflower Cheat Is Bought for $4,500

Middletown, Conn.—A sunflower cheat that had escaped the ownership of a museum was sold here for $4,500. The cheat was made just above Hartford about 1690 as a dowry cheat. American oak formed the cheat proper while the lid was of zinc. Three panels, each adorned with the carving of a sunflower, decorate the lid and give the cheat its name.

Joseph Covell of Portland owned the cheat and sold it to John Tynan of Middletown, a private collector of early American furniture. All other known examples are in public museums.

Famous Natural Bridge

The Rainbow bridge is located with in the Navajo Indian reservation, in San Juan county, Utah. The bridge is 309 feet above the water and its span is 270 feet. The bridge is unique among the natural bridges of the world in that it is not only a symmetrical arch below, but presents a curved surface above, thus having the appearance of a rainbow.

One on the Indians!

The Indians had their pipes—made of clay or stone and none cost more than as much as an acre of good loamy land. But they were PIPES right on, and they drew good smoke. Not only that, but the Indians rolled their own cigarettes. Moreover, the Indians had their stogy cigars. Home-made, all of these. But they were the originals of all that we have. There's nothing new . . . Fertilize it! The Indians had that too, of a sort—fish, right out of the creek, buried beside the plant. But it wasn't V-C. Ho-hum! FULL ROWS? Ah, there you've got it on the reddish!

—V-C—

ONE WAY to catch step with the procession and stay up with the leaders is to subscribe to a good farm journal—and read it!

—V-C—

V-C's JOB HAS JUST STARTED when the farmer hauls his fertilizer home. Not only must the farmer grow a crop that crop right and make another helping friend, but V-C's other resources must be at his call. Experience, advice, information—all these are free for the asking for whatever you want. Address V-C Agricultural Service Bureau, Richmond, Va.

—V-C—

—Or in the Bag

Might as well say "I can buy a four-cylinder automobile for $250" as to say you can buy a certain analysis of fertilizer for this price or that. Neither means anything. The real question is—Who made it? Then you know what's under the hood.

—V-C—

More than 203,000 cigarettes were smoked every minute of the year 1928.

—V-C—

TOBACCO WILL NOT FLOURISH with we feet, nor will the plants yellow as they ripen on cold impervious clay soil.—Exchange.

—V-C—

Things that build the quality that brings the price are careful selection of the right soil, careful preparation and improvement of that ground with the right grade of V-C Fertilizer, and careful methods of curing in tight barns properly ventilated and continually fired at correct temperatures. And yet some folks think anybody could grow tobacco!

—V-C—

—And More Friendly

Country customers who step on the gas and carry part of their trade to the city nowadays have just added one more problem for the country storekeeper. But he's meeting it as he's met others in times gone by, through changing his methods a little to fit new conditions. Good merchants are the same wherever you find them. Your trusty merchant will always carry a stock of things you need that you can't find in cities: reliable fertilizers such as V-C, for instance. And he still has the advantages of being closer to home, more convenient, more helpful.

—V-C—

Order your fertilizer early. That's good farming.

—V-C—

Tobacco Soil Is Poor

Tobacco soils of either the Piedmont or coastal plains sections should have a rather sandy or sandy-loam topsoil to a depth of 6 to 10 inches, underlain by a sandy, sandy-clay or clay subsoil. Such soils are usually deficient in plant food and contain little organic matter, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. That's why fertilizer—V-C Fertilizer—plays such an important part in growing good tobacco.

Leaf Good as Money

Warehouse receipts for tobacco, and notes against the casks and bundles in storage, used to be even more like money than they are now. In fact, they WERE money. For many years on end they were the only currency our colonial grandads ever saw.

—V-C—

AND HE'S SURE TO LOSE

Cotton takes 178 days of man labor per acre and 6 days of horse labor. Tobacco takes 20 and 7. The man who blindfolds himself to the difference in fertilizer is just taking a huge chance with a whole lot of hard work.

—V-C—

Each One Is Vital

V-C Fertilizers supply the food the plant needs—nitrogen to make it grow, phosphoric acid to mature it early, potash to give it the vigor for fullest development—all in the right proportions, from the right sources, fully mixed, ready to use. In all, FOUR elements—nitrogen, phosphoric acid, potash, and V-C.

—V-C—

"The better farm-keeping economy is The Fertilizer Bible. The words ring so much better than they look. Don't forget the ads."—Mildred Gentle

—V-C—

UNDER MOST CONDITIONS IN GROWING SWEET POTATOES it will pay to use 1,000 to 1,500 pounds per acre of a good fertilizer like V-C. The right analysis will have from 2 to 3 per cent of ammonia (some organic), 8 to 10 per cent phosphoric acid, and 6 to 10 per cent potash.

"Scientific farming has paid well all along, but it is not the scientific farmer who is complaining. He hasn't the time. He is busy making money."—H. H. HERMANN.

RIGHT GRADE, RIGHT MAKE

There's a V-C fertilizer of the right grade for every soil growing cotton or tobacco or corn or potatoes or any other crop. And V-C's good name and long experience are behind every grade.

Bein' Scrubbed by Dad

"There's lots of things my Dad can do
That Mother can't, I know—
But she can do one thing or two
Where he don't stand a show
Of ever learnin' Mother's way,
If he'd try, years and years,
But he is worst of all, I'd say,
At scrubbin' out my ears!

"He'll look at me, and say 'Come here,
And let me scrub that face!'
And then he'll look behind an ear
And say, 'Gosh, there's a place
I think we surely ought to scrub'—
And then his fun begins,
For every time he starts to rub,
He nearly always grins.

"I know I make an awful face,
But, golly, so would he,
If I could make him take my place
And be scrubbed hard like me.
If I could hold him by the chin,
Like he holds on to mine,
I'd scrub his skin till it was thin—
I'd make it burn and shine.

"And then when I had chased the dirt,
Or all that I could see,
I'd pinch his cheeks until it hurt—
Just like he does to me!
And then I'd grin and say, like Dad,
'I guess you're clean enough.'
And then I know that he'd be glad,
'Cause I would treat him rough."
